Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

A dead person on Poplar Street.
Ads we don't even look at, those that start off "Now for people over 40," or "If you are past 35 this is for you."

A note from the United States Chamber of Commerce. "Here is a gift that the Administration can give the American people in the New Year: Resignation in non-defense spending." Arisen.

We fail to see why some of the welfare programs now sponsored by the Federal government could not be cut out with a war going on. We think the Federal government is being derelict in its duty by not recognizing the fact and making the public cognizant of the fact, that we are at war.

With 200,000 men in Viet Nam and thirty to forty men killed each week, there's a war, regardless of what one would like to call it.

No one minds taxes when they are needed in the pursuit of a conflict in which we believe we are right, but it is certainly distasteful to the utmost to pursue idealistic programs while at the same time trying to finance a war.

One of the toughest jobs for the Mayor is to decide when to send the fire truck out of the city limits and when not to.

Of course the fire department is supported by city taxes and is maintained for the protection of city property and to arrive at a low insurance rate for city residents. However, for humanitarian reasons the truck is sent out into the country many times to save the property of a home owner.

The Mayor has to decide each case on its own merit, weighing the responsibility he holds for the city against the possibility of doing much good at the site of the fire. No one wants to be in his shoes when such a decision has to be made.

Men, are you getting gray? Does this give you that feeling that you have one foot in the grave? That you are a has been?

When that gray begins to turn your locks to silver do you feel that you are of another generation? That you are on the shelf? That the twist is not for you?

Then here is good news. A breakthrough, so to speak. There is a magic elixir which will darken those gray locks to a rich golden brown.

Those silver curls will turn dark and with it will come a new lightness to the forehead. You will feel as though you could do the chicken with ease. The swim will offer no resistance.

A whole new vista will open. Youth will be in your grasp once again. You will hardly notice that you are completely out of breath after doing a fast run.

This magic potion is called hair darkener available at any drug store or barber shop.

Wife gave us a bottle of it for Christmas, but we are scared to use it.

Military Coup In Nigeria Reported

WASHINGTON — The State Department said today there had been a military coup in Nigeria. Officials said its reports indicated Nigerian Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Balewa was under house arrest.

A State Department spokesman said fragmentary reports from U.S. officials in Lagos indicated the coup was pulled off by members of a "junior echelon" of Nigeria's military command.

The spokesman said Balewa's government was toppled without bloodshed in Lagos.

The spokesman said there were no reports of fighting from the capital, but added there were indications some negotiations may have taken place in the provinces. He did not elaborate on this.

Plane Falls Into Shark Infested Water

By CAMILO MONROY
CARthagENA, Colombia — A Colombian airliner plunged into the shark-infested Caribbean Sea Friday night five minutes after taking off from this northwestern seaport, probably killing 51 of the 59 persons aboard.

Leaving from the naval base here crisscrossed the crash area for hours in a search for survivors directed by U.S. and Colombian planes. Overcast skies and rough seas forced an overnight suspension of the search at 1 a.m.

The four-engined, propeller-driven DC-8 sank almost immediately after crashing into the sea, and many of the passengers are believed to have been trapped in the cabin.

The first survivors to tell their stories spoke of suddenly finding themselves in the water, indicating that they were thrown clear when the plane crashed.

The cause of the crash could not be determined immediately.

"I don't know what happened," said Vincent Ortiz, one of the eight known survivors. "We seemed to be going along all right, and then a second later I found myself in the water."

Boy's Face Bursts Into Flames, Burned

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — The mystery of why John R. Wilkerson's face caught fire has apparently been solved.

Wilkerson, 17, was driving his car to his girl friend's house when flames flared around his chin and jaws. He was taken to a hospital, treated for facial burns and released.

Puzzled police and fire inspectors theorized that a passing motorist must have thrown flammable liquid on Wilkerson's face. But Wilkerson said he did not see anyone throw anything on him.

His mother, Mrs. John Wilkerson Sr., came up with a reason Friday which police said was more probable.

She said her son splashed either cologne or after shave lotion on his face before heading for his girl's house. Mrs. Wilkerson like a match to sample of his cologne and lotion, both which contained more than 70 per cent alcohol, and found they were flammable.

She said static electricity from her son's nylon jacket and nylon seatcovers "apparently caused a spark which ignited the lotion."

Picketing Barred At Paris Plant

PARIS, Tenn. — Chancellor Wayne Cox Friday barred picketing at the American Bleedie Co. after being presented with affidavits of alleged new violence in a six-week-old strike.

Cox broadened a Dec. 2 injunction which had limited the number of pickets at and around the plant.

Affidavits by company officials and attorneys said tires had been slashed, rocks tossed through windows and "superior persons" harassed by pickets during the strike.

Earlier this week a worker was injured and several cars stoned when a crowd of about 50 strikers gathered near a plant entrance.

Tommy Crane, who was slightly injured in the rock-throwing incident, has been released from the hospital.

More than 400 workers have been on strike since late November when negotiations over a new contract broke down. The strikers are members of the International Association of Machinists.

Truce Is Set For Vietnam Holiday

By MICHAEL T. MALLOY
United Press International
SAIGON — South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky conferred today with Secretary of State Dean Rusk on the U.S. peace offensive then told the nation "never can we tolerate any interference harmful to our national sovereignty."

Rusk flew here with roving presidential envoy W. Averell Harriman for talks with the South Vietnamese leaders who have demanded victory first and then talks with the Communists. Ky made his position even stronger in a state of this un-a message.

Despite the resistance to peace negotiations South Viet Nam announced it would observe a three and one-half day cease-fire during Tet, the lunar new year. The cease-fire becomes effective from noon 11 a.m. (EST), Jan. 20 until 6 p.m. 5 a.m. (EST) Jan. 23. The United States said it also would observe the truce.

The developments came as military sources disclosed there had been no contact in South Viet Nam between United States and regular North Vietnamese troops for four weeks. There was no explanation but the envoy said with the U.S. memorandum on bombing North Viet Nam.

Rusk joined Harriman in Bangkok and arrived here today to explain the peace offensive to the reluctant South Vietnamese. Together with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge they set down in heavily guarded presidential palace for the talks.

Rusk said afterwards they had a "very interesting talk."

Ky, who had worn civilian clothes for the talks—a navy brown suit and light brown tie—changed into his military fatigues for his speech to the nation. He gave polite thanks to the would-be foreign peace makers but hinted that the Vietnamese war was none of their business.

"No other nation is qualified and able to decide on our destiny, independently of our will," he said in his annual report. His audience broke into applause when he told them "under whatever circumstances we should ourselves be responsible for our own destiny."

"For reasons of international solidarity we have accepted and are grateful for the moral, material, military and economic assistance from friendly countries," Ky said. "But never can we tolerate any interference harmful to our national sovereignty or any decisions at variance with our people's aspirations."

Local Group Will Attend Assembly

The Murray Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses has been invited to attend the "Increasing Our Praise to Jehovah" circuit assembly to be held in Madison, Tennessee, January 21-23. The site for the gathering will be the new Neely's Bend Jr. High School.

Neil Lucas, presiding minister, said that this meeting will include witnesses from Middle Tennessee and Southwest Tennessee and an attendance of about 500 is expected. It will enable Jehovah's Witnesses to advance to greater Christian maturity and improve their knowledge and ability to teach others. "With so much unrest among people, racial riots, war threats and increase of crime, we feel the need, as Jehovah's Witnesses, to spread a message of peace and unity which this assembly will better equip us to do as a service to this community and the world," he said.

The entire three-day program will follow the theme "Increasing Our Praise to Jehovah." Among other features there will be ordination services for new ministers of Jehovah's Witnesses, followed by mass baptism. The highlights of the assembly will be the public discourse "What Does The Resurrection of The Dead Mean For You and Yours?" by B. E. Giffen, district supervisor, Sunday, January 23, at 3:00 p.m.

Louise pointed out that while families from Murray have accepted the invitation and will be in attendance with their children sharing with other families in convention activities.

Breathitt Signs His $2 Billion Budget Friday

By DREW VON BERGEN
United Press International
FRANKFORT, Ky. — Gov. Edward T. Breathitt affixed his signature to the $2 billion budget bill late Friday after the measure passed in the Senate 31-5 earlier in the day, amid Republican cries of "fraud."

"I am proud to sign it," he said, praising the work of Finance Commissioner L. Felix Joyner and Budget Director Robert Cornett.

He noted that it was the first time in history that the budget, itself of record size, received 100 per cent approval in the state House of Representatives.

Breathitt's action ended a series of futile attempts by the Republican minority in the lower chamber and Senate to amend the bill. On Wednesday it was approved by a 99-0 vote in the House, after Democratic leaders choked off any attempt by the GOP to change the bill. Similar tactics were used in the Senate Friday.

After a debate, only five Republicans voted against the measure. They were Sens. Clay Gay, R-Hyden; Donald L. Johnson, R-Port Thomas; Pless W. Mobley, R-Manchester; Foster Spence, R-Pikeville; and Wendell Van Hoose, R-Tulsa Key.

Five other Republicans joined the majority in supporting the bill.

Johnson, the most vocal of those opposing the budget, said he had been promised that a public hearing would be held before the bill passed.

Thursday, a move to hold a public hearing was voted down 22-13. Van Hoose told the Senate, "I will not be a part of this fraud," before casting his vote. "I had hoped we could look at this reasonably."

Spence said the bill "has been forced down our throats." He said he endorsed the proposals of the Kentucky Education Association which was fighting for a $900 raise for teachers over a two year period. The budget calls for two $300 increases in the upcoming biennium.

A number of Democrats in the upper chamber took the floor to indicate their support of education despite the refusal to grant the $900 teachers' raise.

The House conducted little business Friday, the leadership of both parties having agreed to delay action on the civil rights bill until next week.

Both the House and the Senate will reconvene at 8 p.m. EST Monday.

Russ Space Scientist Dies Of Cancer

MOSCOW — Sergei Korolev, the space scientist who designed Russia's moon rockets and space ships, died Friday at the age of 66, the official press agency Tass reported today.

Tass said Korolev died of a heart attack following an operation for the removal of a malignant tumor.

For years, the Soviet Press has identified Korolev only as the "chief designer" responsible for many of Russia's space exploits. In death, he is to receive the recognition he was denied in life.

He will be given a hero's funeral Tuesday and be buried in the Kremlin Wall — an honor reserved for this nation's most outstanding men.

The obituary carried by Tass credited Korolev with designing Russia's first Sputnik and space ships and the rocket systems that sent them aloft.

In addition, it said, he designed the first Soviet rockets to hit the moon, the rocket that photographed the "dark side" of the moon, and the spacecraft from which cosmonaut Alexei Leonov made history's first "walk in space."

The loss of one of its top scientists was considered a heavy blow to the Soviet space program.

Atom Smasher May Be Cut From Plans

WASHINGTON — There was growing speculation Friday The Atomic Energy Commission may not build the $348 million atom smasher sought by Kentucky and 42 other states.

An authoritative source outside the AEC said the agency is studying three alternative proposals and has called a meeting later this month to get the views of leading physicists on the switch in plans.

Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., of the Senate-Rouse Atomic Committee, said "it looks like possibly the beginning of the end for the 200-BEV, $348 million machine. When you start talking about alternatives it adds up to that."

Hosmer said if the AEC should decide on one of the alternative proposals, "it would be a good excuse for them to start all over again in the site selection process — or arbitrarily pick the site themselves."

Kentucky-Pennsylvania Reclamation Contrasts

would be leveled off to the land's original contour under new laws. Breathitt proposes to the General Assembly. In the picture at right is a strip-mine area in Pennsylvania that has been restored to its original contour and now supports fields of grasses and grains. The proposed new Kentucky laws would be more similar to Pennsylvania's laws requiring better restoration of stripped lands.

Veterans

NEWS

The door to insurance protection for most of Kentucky's veterans will close in just three months, Okey B. Owen, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Louisville, warned today.

May 2, 1966 is the deadline for filing a year's record for veterans of World War Two and the Korean Conflict to obtain the National Service Life Insurance they either failed to take out originally or allowed to lapse in whole or in part.

To be eligible, a veteran must have a service-connected disability or a non-service-connected disability that he cannot purchase commercial insurance at the highest rates.

A veteran does not have to suffer an unexpected tragedy before he can be sure that his child will have a start toward a higher education for as little as 75¢ a week.

Already, quite a few widows have collected insurance under the new program. The first paid off was a World War Two flier who had allowed his original policy to lapse but had taken advantage of the reopening. He died only a few days after re-insuring—and his widow received $10,000.

Be sure, Mr. Owen warned, to enclose the first premium with the application. VA simply cannot issue new insurance without it. To date, VA has had to hold up policies for 12,000 veterans who failed to enclose that first premium payment.

Veterans may still be eligible for the reopened insurance even though they have been previously denied compensation by VA, the manager explained. In fact, there are some 100,000 such veterans in the country whose disabilities were adjusted service-connected but not to a compensable degree. The service connection makes them eligible for the new benefits.

There are a number of other rules and benefits, Mr. Owen said, adding that the best way for undecided veterans to get the facts would be for them to call, write or visit the VA Regional Office at 1405 West Broadway, Louisville, Kentucky. The telephone number is 502-583-2711.

Lakers Down The Bombers 61 - 58 Last Night

By GALE GARRISON

The Lakers acted another game to their win, last night as they defeated the Ballard Bombers 61 to 58, in a game that saw the lead change 9 times and tied 6 times.

Calloway got the opening tip and Ballard with 5:23 left on the clock, on a jumper. In the closing minutes of the quarter Ballard closed the gap to one point, and at the horn trailed Calloway by only one point, 14 to 13.

Pace scored his fourth point of the game to give Ballard the lead 11 seconds after the start of the second stanza. Sliger scored to put the Lakers back in front, but Simmons hit a 10-footer to tie the game for the first time at 20 all. Sliger again put Calloway on top, then Matlock scored twice. Key once, Matlock and Starnes each added two pointers, and Ballard took a 30 to 26 lead to the dressing room.

Calloway trailed until midway of the third quarter when Henry Armstrong stole the ball again and went in for a layup to tie the score at 36. The Lakers then scored 5 points or 4 from the line for Armstrong, while Ballard was scoring 6 points on field goals by Gough and Matlock, and free throws by Oldham and Simmons, to extend the quarter at 42 to 41 for Ballard.

Jimmy Kelly pushed Calloway back in front 49 to 48 with 4:22 showing on the clock. Romain scored for Ballard, Sliger for Calloway. Romain hit one of two free throws. Key made a three point trip giving Calloway a 54 to 51 lead which they never lost.

Henry Armstrong scored 22 points, which I believe is high for him. He is a real little "Go-Getter", but the three scored 14 points: Sliger, Key and Jimmy Kelly each had 12 points, and Keith Donaldson had 1.

High point man for the night was Nicky Matlock with 23 points, next for Ballard was Keith Simmons with 11. Kenny Strange had 7, Larry Pace and Dan Romain each had 6, Wade Oldham had 3 and Lynn Gough added 2.

The 22 points that Henry scored isn't the only reason that makes him a "Go-Getter", but the three times that he stole the ball counted for six points. Not all of them were scored by Henry, but he got the ball so they could be scored. He Steve Doran was high scorer for the night, dropping in 19 points. Dunn of Murray was second for the home team with 15. Barkley was high for the visitors with 18 points.

Colts Defeated By St. Mary Last Night

The Calloway High Colts were unable to cope with the speed and defense of St. Mary last night and dropped the game 81 to 53.

St. Mary jumped into a commanding lead early in the game and never relinquished it.

In the second stanza St. Mary went out front by 16 points and at the halftime held a lead of 36-23.

Mulling over their play during the intermission seemed to help the Colts however and in the third quarter they came back and closed the St. Mary margin 46-42.

St. Mary took over again however and as the horn sounded held a 58-44 margin. Tommy Carter sealed the fate of the Colts with three steals which he converted into baskets.

Stetson and Gault each dropped in 14 points for the Colts. Larry Hopper of St. Mary was high for the night with 29 points. Carter hit for 21.

Western Hopes For Victory In Tonight's Game

By United Press International
Western Kentucky hopes to take Richmond like Grant when it hosts Eastern in the Hilltoppers' home court tonight in a game that could go a long way toward deciding the Ohio Valley Conference title.

Eastern is leading the OVC by half a game and will be out to seek revenge for a stinging 53-47 loss to Western in the championship game of the OVC Tournament in Louisville last month.

Western, a well balanced club with blinding speed, is paced by Clem. The Gen. Haskins who is averaging better than 22 points a game.

The Hilltoppers have won five in a row since losing to third-ranked Vanderbilt by three points at Nashville, Tenn., last month.

Ed Bodkin, the OVC's leading scorer with a 23.8 average is the big gun in the Maroon's attack. Coach Jim Bechtold has promoted sophomore Fred Johnson to a starting assignment at guard.

The other guard, Bill Walton, is considered one of the finest in the league.

Hot and cold Murray hope Morehead in another OVC situation.

In other games tonight, Kentucky State, which has lost its last three games, will be at Tennessee State. Transylvania visits Bellarmine, Cumberland goes to Pikeville, Georgetown travels to Villanova, Centre is at Berea, and Union hosts Knoxville, Tenn.

Belk To Offer Scholarships Once Again

College scholarships worth $600 each will again be awarded to 38 deserving high school seniors by The Belk Foundation.

Harvey Byrd, manager of Belk's Dept. Store explained, in making the announcement today, that only those entering college for the first time in the fall of 1966 would be eligible to compete for the scholarships.

Mr. Byrd cited the increasing importance of college education for the individual as well as for his community, as the reason The Belk Foundation has continued its scholarship program. He said that because the Belk group of department stores operates under an unusual plan of local control, they take a special interest in the citizens and the areas surrounding each store. Each store feels a responsibility to contribute towards the betterment of its own community, since it is a desirable part of the business life in which it participates.

The Belk Foundation, established as a memorial to W. H. Belk and Dr. John M. Belk, founders of the Belk mercantile organization, has assisted many churches, colleges, hospitals and other institutions. Since 1928 it has awarded an increasing number of $600 scholarships as an additional means of providing better opportunities in life.

The scholarships are available to high school seniors in the 15 states served by the Belk, Leggett and Elford department stores. All persons who were graduated from high schools since January 1, 1964 may apply, provided they rank at scholastically in the upper one-third of their graduating class and will be entering college as freshmen during 1966.

Winners, who will select their own college and course of study, will be selected by a committee appointed by The Belk Foundation. They will be named on the basis of scholastic rating, school and community activities, financial need, character and interests, and potentialities for success in college and adult life.

Local high school seniors who are interested in applying for one of The Belk Foundation scholarships should contact Mr. Harvey Byrd at Belk's Dept. Store for complete information and an official application form.

HE CAME back to New Bedford in a crisp October twilight when mists rose thin as her sails along the outer reaches of Buzzards Bay and flaming capers stood like state-flags on the water. The sea was calm, the air was clear, the sun was low, and the water was blue. It was a beautiful sight, and it was a beautiful sight that he had never seen before. Three hundred clubwomen will gather for the annual Mid-Winter Board Meeting and Conference of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs in Lexington, Phoenix Hotel, January 17-19, with the president, Mrs. W. Ed Hamilton, Bardonia, presiding.

A special feature will be "snow-balling" . . . a session during which previously sent questions will be recorded — the papers crumpled into a "ball" and tossed into the audience for members to rise and ask the question of state chairman.

Progress reports will be given on Jewel Manor, the Rehabilitation Center project and the recent Governor's Diamond Jubilee Charity Ball held at the state Capitol, Frankfort. The Kentucky Heart Association will give KFWC an award presented by W. T. Hockins, Frankfort, Chairman of the Board of Directors. A report of Christmas at Kentucky Village will be made and a highlight will be a visit with the girls at Kentucky Village.

The Diamond Jubilee Musicale is scheduled for Tuesday evening under the direction of Mrs. Adron Doran, Morehead, KFWC Diamond Jubilee Chairman and immediate past president of KFWC. Briggs, Director Automotive Safety, Engineering and Research Staff, Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, Michigan will talk on "Safety is Every-one's Responsibility." Dr. John P. ## Mrs. Kennedy "Fited Star" In Fashion

Mrs. John F. Kennedy

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — The fashion world today raised Mrs. John F. Kennedy to the status of a "fited star" in the firmament of the internationally best-dressed women.

In selected a newcomer to the world fashion scene, 22-year-old Mrs. Carter Burden, the former Amanda Mortimer, to head up the 1966 list.

Mrs. Burden is the daughter of Mrs. William Paley, one of the famous Outing sisters of Boston, and a perennial on best dressed lists.

The widow of L.A. President had appeared at the top of the list every year but one since 1961—she was not considered for the 1963 list because she was in mourning. Now, she moves up to the fashion hall of fame.

Five other women, including Mrs. Kennedy's close friend Mrs. Charles Wrightman, of New York and Palm Beach, also were elevated to the hall of fame to become "fited stars" of world fashion," as the Eleanor Lambert office, which compiles the list, stressed it.

This new rank means Mrs. Kennedy and the others join a long list of permanent fashion leaders, including the Duchess of Windsor, and Mrs. Paley, whose husband is board chairman of CBS. They're out of the running for the annual competition.

Mrs. Kennedy's sister, Princess Stanislas Radzwill, who has appeared on the annual list four times previously, didn't make it this year—all she got was honorable mention.

Neither did Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, the First Lady. But Mrs. Johnson wasn't even included in the 1965 names "elected by fashion authorities as women of distinguished taste" listed on the ballots which went out to some 2,500 fashion and kindred experts for the annual voting.

Barbara Streisand, the actress-singer who used to run through clothes, arrived for the first time. She was cited by one of the committee making the final selection for "extraordinary individuality plus inflexible fashion instinct."

These days Miss Streisand combs the top design field along Seventh Avenue for her clothes.

In addition to Mrs. Burden and Miss Streisand, others named to the current best-dressed were:

Mrs. Alfred Greyson Vanderbilt; Mrs. Wyatt Cooper Rogers Vanderbilts; the former Anne and Charlotte Ford, who recently became Mrs. Giancarlo Usselli and Mrs. Stavros Niarchos named together as one because the selection committee said "their taste is identical"; Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy; Mrs. Kirk Douglas; Mrs. Angus Ogilvy, Peacock Alexandra of Kent; Mrs. Charles Russell, wife of the mining magnate; Mrs. William McCormick Blair, wife of the U.S. ambassador to the Philippines; Princess Luciana Pignatelli, of Rome; and Princess Paola, of Belgium.

Fashionettes

Ready-to-wear is in a garden mood. Floral prints abound in late day and evening fashions from Seventh Avenue manufacturers.

Designer Ferdinando Berni does some of the most fanciful — with lots of flowers seven, eight and nine inches across.

New color combination for the new season — powder gray with white. It shows in dresses, suits and costumes.

Rudolph Home Scene Of Kenlake Meeting Held On Wednesday

Mrs. Robert Rudolph was hostess for the meeting of the Kenlake Homemakers Club held Wednesday, January 12, at one o'clock in the afternoon.

Presenting the main lesson on "Know Your Community" was Mrs. Robert Ross. The members were asked questions about the community and its needs in order to make the people more aware of the questions and problems that are pressing in the community.

Mrs. Frank Parrish, president, presided at the meeting and gave the devotion from Psalm 19:14 in the absence of the reading chairman, Mrs. Walker Ooley.

The program of study for the next year's club meeting was discussed by the members. Lists of lessons were given each member for them to mark their favorite subjects.

Mrs. Darwood Lovett, secretary, read the minutes, and called the roll which was answered with each member giving a new year's resolution.

Refreshments of cookies and cold drinks were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, February 9, at ten a.m. at the home of Mrs. Robert Ross. This will be a potluck lunch with the lesson on "Tote Bags."

Fashionettes

The "overriding influence" in dress for '66 is the youth look. The trade publication Women's Wear Daily says designers are robbing the cradle-for new shapes. Who started it? Yves St. Laurent with his smock dress now seen in every price range.

Fashion is thinking white for spring footwear. White's a cool mixer with warmer shades. Watch for it also combined with black in zebra stripes and checkerboards.

BY a checker-spring for women's ready-to-wear. Watch for checks from tiny to giant tatters.

Want to scout cheekbones without using rouge, which often creates shadows? Take a tip from models, who smear just a dab of cold cream on the cheekbone area. The result is a shiny, gleaming look to makeup.

Among the hats that'll be worn in the Easter parade are variations of the boy's visored cap. John Moore, designer, did a series of them in black and white plaid, shown with black and white suits, with choice of trousers or skirts.

4-H Dairy Foods Sectional Winner

Beverly Grief

Beverly Grief, 17, of Paducah, is back home-recalling the exciting time she had at the recent National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, where she had the chance to meet 4-H'ers from every state, Canada and Puerto Rico.

Miss Grief, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grief, received a trip to the five-day meeting as one of 12 sectional winners in the nation in the 4-H Dairy Foods program.

She and other sectional and national award winners were honored guests at a dinner given during congress by the Carnation Company, sponsor of the nationwide dairy foods program that includes 475,290 4-H'ers.

S. A. Halgren, vice president of the firm, congratulated each of the winners. Miss Grief had earlier received a wrist watch from the company for being named the state award winner by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Her winning demonstration was entitled "The Three Cheese Chicken Bake," in which she showed how to make a casserole containing three kinds of cheeses and milk.

TRY today's delicious recipes and you'll look forward to leftovers. In fact, you're likely to order extra meat to guarantee them.

What remains of a ham is chopped into a flavorful tomato sauce and served in a ring of garlic-flavored spaghetti that's sparked with grated Swiss cheese.

Turkey leftovers reappear in mushroom sauce and are served in individual nests.

Both entrees look delicious —and taste that way, too!

Milk

Dear Abby

It Ain't Right, Lady!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem in decorum. My husband refuses to keep his pants on in the house. As soon as he gets home from work he takes them off, but leaves his shirt and tie and shorts on. He says that way all evening, even through dinner. He won't even put on his bathrobe if I get it. He says our apartment is too hot, so I bought him a pair of lightweight Bermuda shorts, but he refused to wear them. I hate to nag, but with a small daughter in the house a man should keep himself decently dressed. Besides, our windows look right into those of a large motel and I'm afraid one of those days some prude will get my husband arrested for indecent exposure. Abby: I realize I'm a man's right to be comfortable in his own home, but why has he come too far. How can I get him to keep his pants on?

BARBARA

DEAR BARBARA: If your man doesn't want to wear the pants in your family, you'll want to tell him that heat story is silly. He could have worn his Bermuda shorts. And when a man is warm he removes his tie and shirt, NOT his pants. Your husband could be a candidate for a psychiatrist's couch. But don't worry about his getting arrested for "indecent exposure" while going pantsless in his own home. There's a law against window peeping.

DEAR ABBY: We are a young, average couple, who have a nice little home in the city. My wife was a country girl, and she thinks it is necessary for us to walk our guests to their cars after we have entertained them in our home at a party. I don't think this is necessary, as I usually lead the fingerling farewells, and even prolonged conversations while we stand outside in all kinds of weather. My wife still insists that it is "inappropriate" to say goodnight to your guests at your door and then close the door after them. Who is right?

DEAR DUFF: You are. It's not necessary to walk guests to their cars (unless your yard is poorly lighted, and you must guide them with a flashlight). But if for no other reason, consider your neighbors, and say your farewells IN the house.

DEAR ABBY: My niece is planning to be married soon. We have met her fiancé, and he is tops. Good family, college graduate (so is she) and he has a grand personality. Shouldn't he be told that this girl deliberately took an overdose of aspirin tablets the summer before she entered college? Also that during her freshman year she was picked up (along with some other girls) for shoplifting? Her parents took her to a psychiatrist and he couldn't find anything wrong with her. She never misses church and has appeared to lead a good life since then, but what if this leaks out after he marries her?

INTERESTED AUNT

DEAR AUNT: Since the psychiatrist found nothing wrong with her and the girl has led a good life since, it is safe to assume that she has overcome her handicap. If the girl, herself, wishes to reveal the foolish mistakes of her past, it's up to her. But others should keep out of it.

"CONFIDENTIAL TO PIGEON"

Don't be silly. Almost every wife has some sort of "sugar bowl" savings. She's really not "holding out" on her husband. If she saves it from her allowance after paying bills. And she usually winds up spending it on either a gift for her husband or one of the kids.
